LIFESTYLE & FAMILY BLOG IN VLC

Launched in 2012, Ohla Living is my personal blog, a digital canvas where I share lifestyle, home inspirations, recipes, travel adventures, and the beautiful chaos of family life.

As a British expat finding my way through the streets of Valencia, I'm passionate about inspiring others with my experiences. From offering insights into schooling and the nuances of Valencian/Spanish culture to recommending must-visit spots in the region, my aim is to provide a glimpse into life in this sunny corner of the Mediterranean.

With my background in design and my multicultural heritage, I infuse each post and image with my unique perspective. Whether I'm delving into natural living, embarking on home improvement projects, or sharing mouthwatering recipes, my blog is a reflection of my personal journey, adorned with touches of creativity and cultural richness.

ABOUT THE BLOG

Since its beginning in 2012, Ohla Living has been my personal haven—a space where I share insights on lifestyle, home inspirations, mouthwatering recipes, thrilling travel adventures, and the beautiful chaos of family life.

As a British expat immersed in the vibrant culture of Valencia, I aim to inspire others with my own experiences and discoveries.

MY AUDIENCE

My readership encompasses women spanning from ages 25 to 65 and beyond, whether they have young families or not. They share a keen interest in lifestyle, travel, culture, culinary delights, remote work, and technology.

Adventurous by nature, they have embarked on journeys across the globe, either solo, with partners, or alongside their families, gaining rich experiences from diverse cultures and landscapes along the way.

WHAT THEY LIKE

My readers are discerning individuals who possess a blend of tech-savviness, creativity, education, and a well-traveled background. They are committed to exploring diverse destinations and embracing alternative lifestyles.

The majority of my audience is particularly intrigued by our firsthand experiences living in Valencia, Spain. They seek insights into educational opportunities, cultural immersion, lifestyle nuances, real estate prospects, and the most desirable locales.

LET'S COLLABORATE

By working with Ohla Living, you can expect well written and presented articles. You will be working with a professional who specialises in design and who can create content that will engage audiences.

I am interested to hear from UK and European brands especially local businesses who would like their products or services noticed through an English speaking audience.

By working with me, you can easily share your message with my readers. Do you want to introduce a product or service? Make an announcement? Launch a video to stimulate direct reader engagement? I have different options to suit your needs!
